

Rebel Forces Encircled

More US Troops To Latin Nation

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—U.S. forces opened a supply corridor through Santo Domingo early today in a link-up operation amounting to an encirclement of rebel forces in the heart of this beleaguered capital.

One U.S. Marine was killed and two wounded by sniper action not related to the linkup. This brings to a total of five the official count of U.S. military men dead, plus 38 wounded, in four days of action involving U.S. forces.

The United States began rushing another 4,500 troops to the Dominican Republic today after President Johnson said the rebel uprising had been taken over by Communist conspirators directed from abroad.

The President's declaration that a military buildup was necessary for security on the Caribbean island, came as rebel fighters made a new attack Sunday night on U.S. troops despite the declared cease-fire.

Rebels hurled grenades at American positions and hammered away with fire from automatic weapons. The outburst lasted about an hour.

No new casualties were reported on the American side. It was uncertain whether answering fire by U.S. forces caught any of the rebels.

The Defense Department in Washington has reported two Marines and two paratroopers killed, and 21 Marines and 21 paratroopers wounded since American forces began landing last Wednesday.

Addition of the 4,500 fighting men ordered in by the President will bring the total of U.S. Marines and Army men to 14,000.

El Salvador Quake Kills 43 Persons

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—A sharp earthquake killed 43 persons and injured about 300 in this Central American capital early today.

The earthquake, at 4 a.m., destroyed many dwellings and damaged at least 4,000 government officials said.

The quake hit the neighboring towns of San Marcos and Santo Tomas as well as San Salvador.

U.S. Ambassador Raul Castro told the Tucson (Ariz.) Daily Citizen by telephone that he understood 100 people were dead as the quake leveled low-income neighborhoods of the capital city.

The quake struck about 4 a.m., Castro said, and caused about $35,000 damage to his official residence.

The hardest-hit areas were in the areas of adobe homes about three miles from the embassy, he said.

Castro, a former Tucson judge, said no Americans on the embassy staff were reported hurt but two nationals were injured.

The new multimillion-dollar airport terminal building was damaged but runways remained operational, Castro said.

He said San Salvador is making preparations for other quakes of lower intensity expected to follow.

Tonight, Castro said, his family and staff "will have to sleep out of doors on cots."

Casualties and damage were heaviest in San Marcos and Santo Tomas, southeast of here, where the quake apparently centered.

The government ordered the two towns evacuated as further shocks were felt later in the day. One strong tremor shook the region at 9:02 a.m. and another at noon.

In Pasadena, Calif., Dr. Charles Richter of the California Institute of Technology said his instruments recorded the quake at 3:08:23 and again at 3:13:50 (PDT).

Richter said the quake registered magnitude of 6.4 here.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The wheels are turning at the Security Council today as the group met to debate U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic. At top, Russia's Amb. Nikolai Fedorenko turns to confer with other members of his delegation. At bottom, United States Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and his staff confer. The group decided to finish debate on Southern Rhodesia first and then take up the Dominican Republic question. The Soviet Union called for the meeting. (UPI Telephoto)

Power Plant License Rule Handed Down

Missouri Plant On Black River Under FPC Realm

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today the Federal Power Commission has licensing powers over a private power company's hydroelectric project on a non-navigable tributary of the navigable Black River in Missouri.

Justice Byron M. White delivered the 6-3 ruling. Justice Arthur J. Goldberg wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justice John M. Harlan and Justice Potter Stewart joined.

White said an issue in the case is whether the construction of a pumped storage hydroelectric project generating energy for interstate transmission is one which would affect the "interests of interstate or foreign commerce" within the intention of the Federal Power Act of 1920.

White said the majority, in examining the purposes of the statute, finds nothing to indicate that the Power Commission was to restrict its authority to effects on navigability. In fact, he said, there is much to indicate the contrary.

CATV Key Topic For City Council

City Council meets in regular session tonight with community antenna television systems expected to be a key topic of discussion. The council convenes at 7:30 p.m. on the second floor of City Hall.

CATV, tabled by the council last year, was revived last week when two firms bidding for a city franchise revealed their merger and the announcement prompted Mayor L. L. Studer to prod the City Council for a vote on the issue. Commonwealth Theatres, Inc. and Clearview Cable Company were the two merging companies who formed Commonwealth Sedalia CATV, Inc.

In the merger announcement, Carl W. Yates, Jr., a shareholder in the firm, said they expected to make a formal presentation to the council tonight. Yates said he was hopeful the council would take up the subject of CATV for renewed consideration.

HARRY KULL

Kull to Head Up Drive For United Fund

The name of Harry Kull, district manager of Missouri Public Service, was presented as general chairman of the United Fund, by Harry Browder, and voted on by members of the board at a meeting Monday at Bothwell Hotel. The board unanimously approved the selection.

Presiding over the meeting was Jim Reed, president, who presented the following officers for approval, and announced their duties. Bob Beykirch is the executive vice-president.

A new committee, community planning, will be headed by Mrs. John Lamy, a vice president. This committee will determine the community needs and whether the community is meeting these needs. Under this heading comes health and welfare.

Rev. George Sparling is the vice-president in charge of publicity; Damon Hieronymus, vice-president in charge of budgeting and admissions; Dean Edwards, president of the Labor Council, vice-president in charge of the field of labor.

Reed, who is adding to the board as the United Fund reorganizes, announced Mrs. Harold Dean as a member of the board.

Hank Monsees, executive secretary, told of attending a United Fund meeting in Springfield, where he had an opportunity to tell of the problems here and received many ideas on things that might be done. One of these ideas was the cultivation committee, the job of which is selling the United way to heads of industries and businesses.

Reed then appointed the members to this committee: Paul Edwards, chairman, George Du- (Please turn to Page 6, Col. 7)

Advance Unit Of Troopers Into Saigon

US Paratroopers From Okinawa To Land 'Soon'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The advance unit for 3,500 American paratroopers arrived in Saigon today. The balance of the three airborne battalions was expected within a few days.

The paratroopers are the first U.S. Army combat ground units assigned to Viet Nam. U.S. and Vietnamese officials said they would "increase security at key installations and press the war more effectively."

Sixty men were in the advance unit. U.S. officials declined on security grounds to say when the main force would arrive. But they said they would be stationed at Bien Hoa, a big air base 12 miles northeast of Saigon, and at Vung Tay, a coastal city 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

In Death of Mrs. Liuzzo

Klansman's Trial Opens

HANEVILLE, ALA. — Alabama Circuit Court Judge T. Werth Thagard laughs as newsmen race to get ahead of him as he strides toward the Lowndes County Courthouse here today to begin trial of one of three Ku Klux Klansmen accused in the night-killer slaying of civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo. (UPI Telephoto)

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP)—A 21-year-old Ku Klux Klansman went on trial today on a first-degree murder indictment in the highway slaying of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, the first white woman killed in the civil rights' struggle.

Called to trial was Collie Leroy Wilkins, one of three Klansmen indicted by a Lowndes County grand jury on charges of premeditated murder in the March 25 night-killer slaying of the 39-year-old Detroit housewife.

One of the first issues facing Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard, the trial judge, was a defense motion challenging the legality of the trial.

Defense attorney Matt H. Murphy Jr., general counsel of the United Klans of America, Inc., predicted even before the jury was selected that his client would be acquitted.

Wilkins has said he works at his home in Fairfield, Ala., as an auto mechanic.

The other two defendants — Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orrville Eaton, 41, both also of the Birmingham area — accompanied Wilkins. They will be tried separately.

Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton Jr. of the United Klans, Tuscaloosa, Ala., sat at counsel table with Murphy and his client during the preliminaries.

A panel of 100 prospective jurors was called for the trial and the courtroom in the 133-year-old white stucco building was filled with jurors and newsmen.

First-degree murder is punishable by death in the electric chair or life imprisonment.

Murphy, who had said he might ask that his clients all be tried together, told newsmen he had decided to let each stand trial alone.

The attorney filed a motion last week on the legality of the trial.

Cuban Travel Ban Upheld By Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today the secretary of state has the constitutional power to bar AMME citizens from traveling to Cuba.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the 6-3 decision. There were three separate dissents.

Said Warren for the majority: "The questions for decision are whether the secretary of state is statutorily authorized to refuse to validate the passports of U.S. citizens for travel to Cuba, and if he is, whether the exercise of that authority is constitutionally permissible."

"We answer both questions in the affirmative."

The court ruled on an appeal by Louis Zemel, a Middlefield, Conn., ski resort operator. He wanted to go to Cuba, he said, to become a better-informed citizen.

The State Department refused permission for the trip under a travel ban imposed in January 1961. Zemel sued, but a special U.S. District Court in New Haven ruled against him in a 2-1 vote.

Ask Latin Nations Aid In Keeping Dominican Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States asked today that Latin-American nations "that are capable of doing so" make their armed forces available in keeping the peace in the Dominican Republic.

The request was made in a resolution drafted for submission to the Organization of American States.

Earlier, at closed meetings of the General Committee of the OAS Conference on Consultation the United States had proposed that countries able to do so make available army, navy or air force units to assist U.S. forces.

No Reasons Given

Cambodia Breaks Ties With the US

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was formally notified by the Cambodian Foreign Ministry today that diplomatic relations have been broken.

The State Department said the United States has no choice in the matter. It is an accomplished fact.

The radio said Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the chief of state, reported his decision to the Cambodian people in an official message. Contents of the message were not immediately available.

Foreign Minister Koun Wick received the U.S. charge d'affaires to announce the decision, the broadcast said. It was added, however, that a consulate-general could be established at Phnom Penh if the U.S. government so desires.

No reasons were announced for the break. However, relations between Cambodia and the United States long have been tenuous, chiefly because of raids along the border with South Viet Nam. Cambodia blames the attacks on U.S.-Vietnamese forces. Saigon charges Viet Cong guerrillas use Cambodia as a refuge.

Hostile feelings also were aroused in Phnom Penh by a reference in the magazine Newsweek to the Queen of Cambodia.

Cambodia objections centered on this portion of a two-page article on the country in the April 5 issue:

"Still there is an undercurrent of criticism leveled by young intellectuals at (Prince Norodom) Sihanouk's private life and at his mother, who is said to be money-mad and reportedly runs a number of concessions in town, plus a string of bordellos at the edge of the city."

The U.S. Embassy in Phnom

Penh, attacked twice in the past year, has maintained only a skeleton staff since 1963.

In a speech last September, Sihanouk said he had rejected suggestions from Cambodian leftists that he sever relations with the United States.

Sihanouk said "Cambodia sells a lot of rubber to the United States which pays in strong currency." He added that if the leftists found another market for Cambodian rubber he would break ties with Washington.

Dependents of U.S. Embassy personnel were removed last November because of deteriorating relations. Most of them entered neighboring Thailand.

Five persons were killed in traffic accidents in Missouri over the weekend.

Mrs. Jenny Letterman, 48, of Buffalo, Mo., was killed and four persons were injured Sunday in a two-car crash on Dallas County Route Z five miles northwest of Buffalo.

Mrs. Letterman's 12-year old daughter, Sue, suffered severe head injuries. James Tuning, 18, of Long Lane, Mo., driver of the car in which the two were riding, received lacerations on the lip and knees. Two occupants of the other car underwent surgery Sunday night at a Springfield hospital. They are James Ray Dennis, 71, and Commodore Sinnett, 68, both of Buffalo.

Bernard Engel of Kansas City was killed Saturday night — on his 22nd birthday — when his motorcycle plunged down an embankment and hit a retaining wall at the end of a dead-end street.

A Ft. Leonard Wood soldier, Dennis Kishketon, 26, was killed Sunday in a one-car accident east of Waynesville. His car overturned in a ditch and he was pinned under it.

Student Pilot Dies In Plane Crash

HOLDEN, Mo. (AP)—William N. Ashley, 23, a student pilot from Kansas City, was killed Sunday in a light plane that crashed four miles southwest of Holden.

Ashley had logged about 10 hours of cross country flying and was making his last flight before taking an examination for private pilot's license, a friend said. Ashley had planned to fly to Springfield, Mo., and return.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The man who lives next door has always been unpleasant and hard to get along with. We have tried to be friendly but nothing we did for him was ever acknowledged.

This neighbor has a large dog and a lot of people are afraid of him. Yesterday the dog came onto our property, broke into the pigeon cage and killed every one of my son's beautiful birds. The boy was heartbroken. He loved those birds and had bought them with money he earned doing odd jobs. (The boy is 14.) The neighbor was cold and hostile when he was told the dog had killed the pigeons.

We asked our son what action he wanted us to take against the neighbor. He answered, "We should go to church and pray for him. Anyone who has that much meanness in his heart must be miserable."

We are proud of our son and hope we can keep him thinking that way until he is a grown man.

Now we are asking your advice. Should we take some legal action against the neighbor?—OTHER CHECK.

Dear Other Check: Your son is extraordinary and you have every right to be enormously proud of him. And, you can be proud of yourselves as well. This young man's lofty principles and sense of compassion were learned for the most part at home. Respect your son's wishes.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing this for my buddy who is so mad he can't hold a pencil.

Blackie gave his girl friend, Trixie, $10 on her day off and told her to go to the track and have a good time. Trixie is a nice girl but she is also a dumb broad who doesn't know one end of a horse from another. Wouldn't you know it, she hit the daily double and dragged down $440.

Trixie called Blackie from the track to tell him the good news. She said, "I am going to buy you the best $10 tie in town." Blackie said if she was a lady she would split her score. What do you say?—ON HIS SIDE.

Dear On: Sorry but Blackie didn't ask her to place a bet for him. He gave her the $10 and told her to have a good time.

I do feel Trixie could have been more generous. A C-note would have been more like it.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother is 46 years old and she has been a widow for 12 years. Everyone remarks on her vitality and good looks. She could easily pass for 35.

About five years ago mom started to go with Vic. He is a successful businessman (about 55) who never married. Although mom always made good money she could never afford the luxuries she has had since Vic came into the picture.

Mom told us yesterday that she is quitting her job. When I asked how she could manage she said, "I have a small income from the real estate your father left me."

My father didn't own any real estate. I am sure Vic is going to keep her. My husband says a kept woman is not welcome in our house because sooner or later the children will be asking questions. Is my husband justified in barring my mother from our home?—ARDIS.

Dear Ardis: It's terribly sad to see one's mother sink to such a level, but I don't feel she should be barred from your home. The name and the shame is hers, not yours.

If the children ask questions tell them Uncle Victor is a friend who takes Grandma places because she has no husband. No other details are necessary.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Marks 86th Birthday

Byrnes Supports Air Acts, Balks At Financial Plans

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes supports President Johnson's policy of air strikes against North Viet Nam but opposes his proposal to provide $1 billion in aid to South-east Asia.

A former member of the House and Senate, a former Supreme Court justice, an "assistant president" to Franklin D. Roosevelt, secretary of state under Harry S. Truman and a former governor of his own state, Byrnes marked his 86th birthday here Sunday. It was also his 59th wedding anniversary.

In an interview with The Associated Press he:

—Recalled some of his own difficulties in dealing with Russian leaders but counseled continued talks with them.

—Said the Supreme Court is invading the field of legislation, usurping the powers of Congress and changing the Constitution improperly.

—Called Johnson's voting rights bill "terrible" and said the eventual ruling on it would show how far the court is willing to go "in attempting to dictate the policies of government."

Here are some questions put to Byrnes and his answers on international issues:

Q. Do you support Johnson's Viet Nam policies?

A. I heartily support his statements as to his willingness to discuss the cessation of hostilities and settlement of our controversies. I am sorry that he added his willingness to have the United States contribute a billion dollars to the rehabilitation of Southeast Asia.

Q. Do you support the air strikes against North Viet Nam?

A. I enthusiastically support the air strikes. The only way we can hope to convince the war lords of North Viet Nam is by a demonstration of our power. I do not believe, however, that you can buy the friendship of people. That is true of individuals, and it is true of governments, which are an assortment of individuals. I do not believe that the money we gave (Indonesia President) Sukarno will accomplish any good. I understand that (Egyptian President) Nasser told us we could take our money and go to hell. I dislike to have the well-intended efforts of the U.S. government depreciated by such little people in a big world.

Q. You dealt extensively with Russians as secretary of state. What is your estimation of what the Russians are up to now?

A. What is their immediate goal I do not know, but I always stop and think what has been their goal ever since the end of World War II. I have no doubt that it is the same goal. They want to dominate the world. They would prefer to do it by negotiations, but if that is not possible, they would do it by force. There has been no change announced as to the policy of the Politburo. I remember a dinner given to the three foreign ministers, Molotov and myself on Christmas Eve in 1945, at which dinner the Politburo were guests. Those men determined the policies of the Soviet government and I know of no one who would suggest that there has been any modifications of the views of the Politburo. Mr. Stalin passed from the scene, so did Mr. Khrushchev, but the policy of the Soviet government remains the same.

seemed quite amazed and asked where did we have stationed an army of a million? On the table between us I took matches and showed as accurately as I could where our troops were, according to the latest information from the Joint Chiefs of Staff. I finally convinced him. He threw his head back and said, "I believe you Mr. Secretary, the Chinese were always the damnest liars in the world." I think he is right, I thought so then; I was right, and I think so now.

Q. What are the chances, in your estimation, that the Chinese will intervene directly in the Viet Nam war?

A. I must confess that I have no fixed opinion. It is uncertain always as to what the Chinese will do. Again, they are impressed only by the military power of the U.S. government. Negotiations with China are very much like negotiations with the Soviets. I found in dealing with them (the Russians) for almost two years, they are what the Orientals are supposed to be — traders.

Q. Do you think talks with the Soviets should continue?

A. Yes. As a matter of fact, I think President Johnson was extremely right in stating in his Johns Hopkins Univ. speech that he was ready at any time to talk with the Soviets or any other government, because we cannot hold the support of independent governments if we refuse to confer with those who are opposed to us.

Body Found Thought To Be Catholic Priest

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Authorities were investigating the death of a man believed to have been a Roman Catholic Priest. His body was found Sunday in the Meramec River in St. Louis County.

No foul play is believed involved in the death, but an autopsy was to be performed to determine the cause of death, police said.

County police said papers belonging to the Rev. Edgar C. Kirwin, 52, of Albuquerque, N.M., were found on the body.

Father Kirwin, in St. Louis for a visit, was reported missing April 26 from St. Michael's House of Studies in suburban Sunset Hills.

Three men canoeing on the river found the body. Father Kirwin had been in residence at an Albuquerque parish for about a year while undergoing medical treatment. His last official assignment was as chaplain at St. Anthony Hospital at Las Vegas, N.M.

Boy Admits Stabbing His Sister

ELLSWORTH, Kan. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, hunted down by a posse Sunday, has admitted stabbing his younger sister to death during a fight over a game of hide-and-seek at their home in Wilson, Kan.

A Kansas Bureau of Investigation agent said the boy, Roger Mikulecky, told how he drove a steak knife into the back of 10-year-old Alice Lynn Mikulecky Saturday morning.

The Ellsworth County attorney, C. R. Miller, is expected to take the boy into juvenile court to determine how to handle the case.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mikulecky, have another son, Gary, 11, and another daughter, Linda, 17. The father, in poor health, formerly was a patient in a veterans hospital. The mother is employed at the Wilson library.

The KBI agent gave this account of the slaying: Roger and Alice were playing outdoors after their mother and Linda left the house to go to work. The father and young Gary, feeling ill, were still in bed. The fight occurred in the garage.

Mrs. Mikulecky had asked Alice to meet her near the library an hour later. When Alice failed to appear, the mother returned home. Roger was in the house, and said he thought Alice was on her way to meet her mother.

Roger left home on his bicycle to make collections on his newspaper route, but pedaled south toward the Smoky Hill River.

Mrs. Mikulecky then found Alice's body in the garage.

Searchers found Roger's bicycle near the river two miles south of Wilson Saturday evening.

FAA Finds A Problem On Hands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal aviation officials fear they may have a bigger drunken flying problem among private pilots than they ever suspected.

The bases for this concern, a House Appropriations subcommittee was told, were the findings of some 50 autopsies conducted on crash victims.

"To our great surprise, there has come out of these autopsies a much more serious drunken flying problem than we understood there to be before," said Najeeb E. Halaby, in testimony March 2 before he resigned as Federal Aviation Agency administrator. The testimony has just been made public.

Halaby stressed that he was talking about private pilots, not airline pilots.

"The problem on air carriers, as far as we can ascertain, does not exist. The airline pilots do not drink," he said.

For the past several years, he explained, there have been about 500 fatal crashes each year killing 900 to 950 persons in general aviation.

"We thought that the average pilot, with the amount of experience he had had and the respect he had for the elements, just would not drink before flying," said Halaby. "We now find that one-third of the sampling we have taken of these fatal accidents in the year 1963 were probably under the influence of alcohol."

What to do about it? Halaby said: "The airplane does not know whether the driver of the airplane is drunk or sober. We cannot build into the airplane a sobering device or an overcontrol that will take over when the pilot is being a damned fool."

He said the agency was considering some tougher regulations. The FAA, he said, now has a rule against pilots flying under the influence of alcohol.

But, he added, it is considering a rule to prohibit any pilot from going up within eight hours after consuming any alcohol.

Combat Reporter Uniform Poses Problem For Boyle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — This is a strange war indeed. It is the first war I've been in which a reporter has to get his uniform custom made by a Chinese tailor.

So far, the government doesn't officially issue combat clothing to reporters nor will it sell it to them. They sometimes can buy it, however, on what is euphemistically known as "the gray market."

The leader of the den of thieves to whom I was referred has his headquarters in what looks like an abandoned warehouse, just as do American gangs on television programs.

When I explained what I wanted, the chief thief, who shall remain nameless — in fact he said he preferred it that way — offered me all the opium I wanted, but said he was all out of government uniforms.

"This has been a very bad month for stealing," he explained.

So I went to see Luong, the Chinese tailor, who is known as the fastest needle in the Far East. In 36 hours he whipped together a bush jacket and trousers that made a fellow look like the white hunter on an African safari.

"Luong, you made the pants too long," I objected.

"Not too long," he lied with a bland saffron smile.

"After first monsoon rain, pants fit just right."

My quest for a combat cap proved to be the best free entertainment of the day. Apparently no one with a size 7½ head had been in town for some time.

Grimacing crowds collected in every shop and broke into giggles as the proprietors fruitlessly perched Vietnamese jungle caps atop my dome. As fast as they were put on they fell to the floor.

Giving the hat search up as a bad job, I stomped off again to the gray market. This time I managed to buy a used pair of boots about two sizes too large and a weathered rucksack which some French Legionnaire must have dropped at the battle of Dien Bien Phu back in 1954.

My last port of call was the post exchange. No American ever goes off to a war zone without a farewell call at the

All-School Orchestra Will Perform

The Sedalia Public Schools will present the annual concert of the All-School Orchestra in the Smith-Cotton High School auditorium on Thursday, May 6, at 8 p.m.

This year's orchestra, which will include approximately 275 students, will be made up of the combined school orchestras from all the Sedalia Public Schools. These school orchestras have been selected and have been rehearsing separately, but will combine for one rehearsal on Wednesday night for the performance on the following night.

Special numbers on the concert will include a trumpet trio composed of Bill Brown, Paul-ette Lewis and Mike Hunt, who will play "Divertissement," and three selections from the high school Madrigal Singers.

Participating in the preparations for this concert are the following instrumental music teachers: Mrs. Florence Goodrich, Mrs. Helen Coffelt, Harold Johnston, Mrs. Edith Donath and Robert Cummings.

This concert will be free to the public. Conducting the full orchestra will be Mrs. Carl Schradar.

PX for a box of chocolate candy bars, some boxes of hard candy, a pushbutton can of shaving lather and a bottle of insect repellent.

The post exchange here is stocked with an assortment of goodies not particularly useful in jungle fighting. They include hi-fi sets, classical phonograph records, expensive cameras, and several sets of golf clubs. Just looking at them made me feel homesick. Then I saw something that really fascinated me. It was a bean bag priced at 85 cents. I bought it. At that price I felt it was too good a bargain to pass up, and I thought it would be nice to be the only guy in the war with a bean bag of his very own.

Besides, it may come in handy if I need something to throw at the unfriendly Viet Cong. I'd rather play bean bag with them than any other game I can think of.

Lifetime Job In Theatres For McLain

Ray McLain, 2507 Highland, has been manager of the Fox Theatre since 1956.

From the time he was a small boy he practically haunted the theatre in his home town of Topeka, Kans., and never missed a show, he says. He greatly disliked selling papers, but that was what he did in order to get money to go to the show, and then one day came his big chance, an usher didn't show up. The theatre manager, needing an usher and knowing that McLain knew the theatre thoroughly, asked him if he would usher. It was vaudeville days and the seats were numbered with people seated accordingly, but he did know the theatre and he got the job permanently.

By the time he was 16 he was assistant manager and that summer he was manager, because the vaudeville people went into tent shows and the manager

We also have arranged for the finest motion pictures that money can buy for this season. Good product, our modernization and improvements, and an excellent

The 50 Drive In Theater has been remodeled to a considerable extent, the center building and the inclosed facilities of the theater have undergone a complete refurbishing and enlargement which are quite impressive. Ray McLain, city manager for Commonwealth properties here, will give the public a preview of the changes Wednesday night, May 5.

The theater will open officially for the spring and summer season, with clowns, gags, stunts and gimmicks for the amusement of the general public. There'll be balloons, candies and novelties galore, and plenty of free tickets offered as prizes during the evening. Even the men who feel they can pitch a superb horseshoe are invited to come and take advantage of a professional horseshoe pitching layout.

McLain said today, "We are with them. Stock companies started coming to the theatre for the summer months and he was on his way to a theatre manager career. He was first with the vaudeville theatre and later the legitimate theatre, and in 1930 started to work for the Fox Theatres, going to the Commonwealth Theatres in 1960.

He managed theatres in Topeka, Newton, Emporia and Coffeyville, Kans., and then to Joplin, Mo., and came here from Joplin. In Emporia he was president of the Chamber of Commerce and president of the Rotary Club. Here he is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and the Presbyterian Church.

During the early days of his career he met many people who were famous or later became so, among them, Will Rogers, W. C. Fields, the Two Black Crows, Tom Mix, Amy Semple McPherson, Walter Whiteside, Eva Tangway, Sally Rand and many others.

McLain and his wife, Greeta, have one daughter who is a buyer for the Jones Store in Kansas City.

DOUGLAS C. LIGHTNER, General Manager of Commonwealth Theatres, Inc., will attend the opening ceremonies for the 50 Drive In Theater, which will have its official opening Wednesday evening, May 5. He stated today, "The American drive in theater has become one of the phenomena of business today. It now has achieved the position of being just as important in the world of motion pictures as the nicest of the indoor theaters, and there are some of us who suspect that it may eventually seek to dominate the theater industry."

service staff will add up to something that Sedalia citizens can well be proud of. We want to make this drive in theater a prideful venture in the business life of Sedalia."

John Wayne in "McLintock," a United Artists picture, has been chosen by the management as the opening attraction. Maureen O'Hara co-stars, and it tells a lusty, rough and tough story of the early days of the old West and there's plenty of fun and laughter in it, too. The film possesses a rowdy, rough-house finale between Wayne and O'Hara which has become a classic in motion pictures, and there's something in it for all of the family.

A second family feature has been added to the program which is also expected to please the family. It is Warner Brothers' "The Incredible Mr. Limpet," starring Don Knotts, and it also has plenty of comedy in it.

McLain notes that the motion picture industry nationally is in a decided upswing in attendance. He contributes this to a general improvement in the quality of product coming out of the Hollywood studios, and also to a greater quantity of product. "There are more motion pictures coming out of Hollywood this year than there has been for several years and many of these pictures are proving to be record-breakers at the boxoffice. The industry itself expects the best attendance on the part of the public that has been enjoyed for many seasons," said McLain.

Richard H. Orear, president of Commonwealth Theatres, is well known to many Sedalia citizens. The circuit operates 103 theatres over a seven state area in the Midwest.

EARL DOUGLASS, Eastern District Manager for Commonwealth Theatres, will attend the opening of the 50 Drive In Theater here, Wednesday, May 5. He is a frequent visitor in Sedalia, and resides in Columbia. Douglass says, "I think the citizens of Sedalia will be quite surprised when they are given an opportunity to see the improvements in the 50 Drive In Theater, and arrangements have been made for a superb season of excellent motion pictures there this year. We want the Drive In Theater to be an excellent asset in the field of entertainment in the Sedalia area, and we hope that citizens will find evidence of our personal ambition to see that only the best is made available in this drive in theater. It may be an old cliché — but movies are better than ever!"

Ambulance Serv. TA 6-8000

RICHARD H. OREAR, President of Commonwealth Theatres, Inc., which headquarters in Kansas City, and operates 103 theaters over a seven state area in the Midwest, inspected the improvements being made in the 50 Drive In Theater here prior to its official opening Wednesday night. He was quite optimistic about business in general and predicted that the motion picture theaters of America will enjoy the finest year they've had in many years. He said this is predicted on the fact that business in general is climbing upward to new highs over the entire nation, and the motion picture studios will turn out more product than they have in the last ten years.

Gary Lehman Manager Of 50 Drive In

Gary Lehman, manager of 50 Drive In Theatre, who has been with the Commonwealth Theatres for the past three years, is a second generation theatre man. His father is manager of the Fox Theatres in Wichita, Kans.

Wichita is Gary Lehman's hometown, and while he was a graduate student at Kansas University, Lawrence, and teaching in the speech department, he went into his father's line of work which wasn't what his dad had intended he should do.

Young Lehman attended college three years, went into service, and then back to college when he returned. He was graduated in 1957. Both he and his wife, Marilyn, also a graduate of K.U., were teaching, when he decided to go accept the job with Commonwealth. He was manager of the Sherman Theatre and the Goodland Drive-In, in Goodland, Kans., where he was transferred here by the company a month ago.

The Lehmans are residing at 2204 West Third. They are Presbyterians and he is a member of the VFW in Wichita.

Young Man Is Held For a Break-In At Sweet Springs

The Kansas City Power and Light building in Sweet Springs, was broken into Saturday night about 11:45.

Saline County Deputy Sheriff Walter Wade was called to the building where he found David LeRoy Matthew, 21, of RFD, Marshall. Matthew had gained entry by breaking the glass and reaching in and unlocking the back door, which opened onto the alley, according to the deputy. Matthew then went into the main office where he broke the glass enclosure around the cashier cage.

Matthew was confined to the Sweet Springs City jail Saturday night and transferred to the Saline County jail in Marshall, Sunday morning.

Danny Meads, Warsaw, brothers who were killed in an auto accident west of Sedalia Friday, were held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Huston Funeral Home in Windsor with the Rev. Lonny Hulsey officiating. Burial was in Laurel Oak Cemetery.

Accidents

Failing brakes were blamed for one-car accident in which Mrs. Mabel Holman, 66, was injured about 5 p.m. Sunday east of the junction of county Routes HH and EE.

Mrs. Holman, according to Trooper Robert W. Bruce of the State Highway Patrol, was injured when her car ran into an embankment about 1.4 east of EE on Route HH. He reported Mrs. Holman had informed him the brakes went bad while enroute to her home. She was unable to maneuver a turn, drove past the intersection, succeeded in turning around and started back. As she approached the road where she was to make a right turn, she had slowed the best way possible but the car was moving too fast and she still was unable to turn. The vehicle crossed the intersection and went off an embankment.

The 1957 Ford stationwagon was extensively damaged.

She was brought to Bothwell Hospital by friends where Dr. Karl Gonsler rendered medical treatment for a laceration of the roof of her mouth and bruised left hip. She also complained of a back injury and was admitted to the hospital for observation. Shoemaker's wrecker towed the car to Sedalia.

Two persons were injured in a one-car accident about 1:30 a.m. Sunday when the vehicle failed to stop at a "T" intersection on the East Boonville Road and Maplewood Road and crashed headon into an embankment.

Injured was Miss Devetta Jo Turner, 17, daughter of Mrs. William Mullins, 230 West Ave., a passenger in the car. She suffered a severe laceration along the left side of her head which took 18 stitches to close and a laceration of the left hand. She was treated by Dr. A. J. Campbell and admitted to Bothwell Hospital for further observation.

Driver of the car, James Ray Gensler, 22, 3019 East 12th, received a laceration on his chin.

According to Trooper William Southwick, Gensler was headed north on Maplewood Road and failed to make a turn at the junction. The vehicle was extensively damaged on the left front and the front end.

The Parks Service Station wrecker towed the automobile, a 1960 Pontiac hardtop sedan, to Sedalia.

An eastbound auto struck the rear of a parked panel truck at 1608 East Sixth at 3:39 p.m. Sunday.

Police reported the auto, a 1964 Plymouth convertible, was driven by Ronald Lee Stratton, 23, 603 South New York. It struck a truck owned by Dorro-Clucky Laundry parked in front of the Wayne B. Donaldson residence, 1608 East Sixth.

Stratton sustained an injury to the lower lip and mouth and was treated at Bothwell Hospital, police said.

A car stopped for a red light at Broadway and Ohio backed up and damaged the front of another auto behind at 4:53 a.m. Sunday.

Police reported a 1958 Chevrolet, driven by Donald E. Petree, 21, 820 West Henry, backed into the front of a 1959 Continental, driven by Cora A. Naugel, 67, 2902 Southwest Blvd. Both vehicles were facing north on Ohio.

A car ran off the street and into a culvert at St. Louis and Mill at 1:15 a.m. Sunday.

Police reported the 1952 Ford was northbound on Mill and driven by Billy D. Watkins, 18, Fairfield. He was issued a summons for careless and imprudent driving and is to appear in Police Court May 11.

Police reported pry marks were found on a cabinet in the front of the motor company building, but no loss was listed. Entry was through a northwest window.

Burglars broke into the Cal Rodgers Auto Agency, Fifth and Kentucky, overnight Saturday and attempted to peel open a safe. Entrance was not gained to the safe, however, and no loss was reported.

Police said the building was entered by breaking an east window. Rodgers reported the break-in to police at 11:38 a.m. Sunday.

Highway Patrol Trooper Pete Stohr assisted Police Sgt. Perry Franklin and Officer Vic Phelps in the investigation.

In filling in for the mayor, Snively was at the second floor office in City Hall Monday morning and said he plans to spend a part of each morning and afternoon in the mayor's office this week.

Regarding the CATV discussion, City Counselor Earl T. Crawford indicated today that it was his belief the City Council could not award a CATV franchise on its own authority. Crawford said he felt the franchise proposal would require a vote of the people in an election as provided for utility firms.

The speakers committee, appointed by Reed, is composed of Harry Browder, chairman, P. A. Sillers and Bob Beykirch. Hieronymus explained that other agencies will be invited to make application to become a part of the United Fund.

A discussion, in which members of the board took part and made suggestions brought out many ideas and explanations of what is being done and why. This will be known as the New United Fund, for many meetings have been held and much work done in an effort to iron out problems, it was stated.

"Everybody feels that they owe something to the welfare of the community in which they live, but the giving should be strictly voluntary. Fair share giving should be left strictly up to the individual, it was pointed out, for everyone knows what they can afford and give accordingly, but to give is an obligation to the community in which they live," it was pointed out.

Reed stated that character building agencies are as important to the community as those that deal with welfare and health, for all have a part in its betterment.

CANDY CANE CITY, which is located directly below the screen at 50 Drive In Theatre, will be a popular place this summer for the youngsters in the Sedalia area for all the small patrons of the theatre will find not only swings and slides and a merry-go-round that they may go to themselves, but an electric merry-go-round and Ferris wheel on which they can ride free. There will be an attendant. Dad won't grumble about going so early so the kids can play, either, for there is a horse-shoe pitching area built to professional standards, which is a new feature. Here he can pitch horseshoes or, if he doesn't care to enter into the game, watch those who do.

New Dance Is Called 'Hullabaloo'

NEW YORK (AP) — When Gary Smith, 29-year-old producer, was dreaming up a new musical-variety hour for NBC, he ordered up a rocking, strong-beat theme song, "Hullabaloo." To accompany it, he required a new dance to be called, naturally, the "Hullabaloo."

They were to be used weekly to open "Hullabaloo," as a means of viewer identification and, hopefully, to start a new fad among the young viewers. A very pretty blonde, 20-year-old dancer-singer-actress Joey Heatherton, was chosen to inaugurate the show's choreographed signature.

Joey appeared before the cameras and went into choreographer David Winter's dance, which involved considerable twisting, turning and writhing in the modern mode.

"Well, that did it," she recalls with a small shudder. "The NBC switchboard lit up like Broadway. One sponsor wanted to pull out and others wanted the network to put a hold on their commercials."

Joey, the storm center, was amazed — and still is. "It was nothing more than the kids are doing all over the country, and not too different from dances like the pony, the mashed potato and the hully gully," she says. "Maybe it was just that their parents and older people hadn't seen them. But I'm pretty sure that it wasn't the dance. I think it was the camera angles."

At any rate, the "Hullabaloo" dance has been severely modified and largely confined to head and shoulder flinging. The next time Joey turned up on the show, they had her sitting motionless at a table, singing a sad, static little ballad. She was scarcely permitted to move a muscle.

However, that controversial opening has had a fantastic effect on a show business career which, even before "Hullabaloo," was moving along in high gear.

Recently Joey, accompanied by Troy Donahue, made a promotional tour of 26 theaters for a movie they had made together.

"I've made three motion pictures," Joey said, "but in those theaters it was like I'd never done a thing but 'Hullabaloo'."

Now, while under contract to make two films a year at each of two studios, she also has been signed for a Dean Martin television show for next fall and a Sammy Davis television special.

Fire Delays Hymn

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — The congregation of the Lewiston Orchards Methodist Church was in the midst of the third verse of the opening hymn at their 11 o'clock Sunday service when the pastor interrupted the singing.

"The church is on fire. Let's all leave very carefully," he announced.

The congregation filed out, and looked for the fire. The blaze was located in a bird's nest atop a large, 30-foot cross built into the front of the church.

A fire engine from a station half a block away doused the conflagration. The congregation went back to resume the hymn.

Troops Into Area

Presses Diplomatic Drive To Stop Latin Communism

WASHINGTON (AP) — With 4,500 U.S. troop reinforcements pouring into the Dominican Republic, President Johnson pressed a diplomatic drive today to win Latin-American support for his newly announced determination to prevent "Communist conspirators" from turning the embattled Caribbean island country into a second Cuba.

"Our goal, in keeping with the great principles of the inter-American system, is to help prevent another Communist state in this hemisphere," the President told the nation Sunday night in a historic policy pronouncement.

"And we would like to do this without bloodshed or without large-scale fighting."

He declared that Communist leaders, "many of them trained in Cuba," had captured the rebel movement that began "as a popular democratic revolution."

Even as the President spoke, two special envoys were meeting with officials in Latin capitals. Other American representatives here and in Santo Domingo, center of the civil war, were working with the Organization of American States for an end to bloodshed and a Dominican future which would, in Johnson's words, be free of "Communist dictatorship."

Johnson announced in his televised speech that the multiple tasks of protecting lives, distributing food and medical supplies, and assisting U.S. and other refugees to leave the country were more than the 9,500 U.S. Marines and Army men already in the island could handle. He said he had ordered 4,500 more to land at the earliest possible moment, raising the total to 14,000.

Since the Marines first landed Wednesday night, he said, they have evacuated more than 3,000 persons from 30 countries. Some 5,000 others, including 1,500 U.S. citizens, were waiting to come out, Johnson reported, adding: "We must get on with that job immediately."

No official here would say how long U.S. forces would remain in the Dominican Republic. The United States has told Latin-American leaders it would welcome troops from their countries. Such contingents, in support of the force, might mean early withdrawal of some U.S. units.

But the U.S. action in sending Marines into a Latin country for the first time in a generation has drawn sharp criticism elsewhere in this hemisphere. Johnson's special emissaries, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and former Alliance for Progress chief Teodoro Moscoso, faced tough problems on their missions.

Johnson said the Marines initially had been sent into the Dominican Republic late Wednesday in response to an urgent cable from Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett at Santo Domingo calling for immediate landing of U.S. forces to save the lives of thousands of Americans and citizens of other countries.

"I knew there was not time to talk, to consult, or to delay," the President said. "For in this situation delay itself would be decision — the decision to risk and to lose the lives of thousands of Americans and thousands of innocent people from all lands."

In his speech, Johnson then laid out in plain words for the first time the additional decision which he had implied in a statement last Saturday night: that the U.S. purpose in the Dominican Republic goes beyond saving lives and now aims also to block establishment of a "Communist dictatorship."

"The revolutionary movement took a tragic turn," the President declared. "Communist leaders, many of them trained in Cuba, seeing a chance to increase disorder, to gain a foothold, joined the revolution. They took increasing control."

"And what began as a popular democratic revolution, committed to democracy and social justice, very shortly moved and was taken over and really seized and placed into the hands of a band of Communist conspirators....

"Many of the original leaders of the rebellion, the followers of (deposed) President Juan Bosch, took refuge in foreign embassies, and they are there tonight."

In words clearly addressed to Latin America, Johnson asserted: "The American nations cannot, must not, and will not permit the establishment of another Communist government in the Western Hemisphere. This was the unanimous view of all the American nations when, in January 1962, they declared, and I quote: 'The principles of communism are incompatible with the principles of the inter-American system.'"

Johnson also addressed an appeal to the rebels fighting in Santo Domingo asking them to break with the Communists and stop fighting.

"To those who fight only for liberty and justice and progress, I want to join with the Organization of American States in appealing to you tonight to lay down your arms and to assure you there is nothing to fear."

"The road is open to you to share in building a Dominican democracy, and we in America are ready and anxious and willing to help you."

Johnson said he also wanted to make clear that the United States does not support any man or group in the country. He said American forces are there to save lives and to help prevent another Communist state in the hemisphere.

Capitalists? Who Are They?

The more the Marxists talk, the more they begin to sound like capitalists.

Premier Kosygin has announced that Russia's next five-year plan will concentrate on raising both the production of consumer goods, with emphasis on private cars, and the incomes of workers so that they will be able to buy the new goods.

Voicing words that could have come from any Western textbook on capitalism, Kosygin added a caution:

"Wages must be placed in direct relationship to increases in labor productivity and growth of production."

Speaking of capitalists and capitalism, however, as Michigan Gov. George Romney did the other day, these are words that in his opinion ought to be dropped from the vocabulary because our use of them plays into the hands of Communist propagandists.

"Around the world," he said, "capitalism is usually considered as an economic system in which the economy is controlled by the few, who benefit from the efforts of the many."

The system we actually have, said Romney, is "consumerism." Ultimate control of the economy rests with the many—"through the free daily economic balloting of customers in the marketplace."

America, said Romney, buried classical capitalism long ago, whether we know it or not.

It may well be that Kosygin and Company, successors to Khrushchev Enterprises, are doing the same thing with communism—whether they know it or not.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Frank Bryant, president of the Bryant Motor Company, was elected president of the Sedalia Retail Credit Association, at a meeting in Bothwell Hotel. Dr. W. E. Pearl was elected vice-president and Miss Vivian Denny of Montgomery and Ward, secretary-treasurer.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Miss Louise Schmid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jule Schmid, 226 South Prospect avenue, has accepted a position in government service in Washington, D. C. in the offices of the Air Service Commission. Enroute there she will stop in Cincinnati, O., to visit relatives.

— 1925 —

Miss Helen Riley won first place and a gold medal, and Miss Marie Simpson won second place and a silver medal in the shorthand contest conducted by the Central Missouri State Teachers College, Warrensburg. The girls were members of a team from Sedalia High school of which Miss Winifred Weatherman is instructor.

Automation Is Here

"Today's machines, even more than the devices of the industrial revolution, are creating a whole new environment for mankind and a whole new way of life. They deal with the every core of human society—with information, its communication and use." These are the words of John Diebold, called an evangelist of automation, and president of a management consultant firm.

This young, 38 year-old's voice of the new technology is crying in the wilderness of ignorance and inaction. He says the United States is caught between the internal problems of unemployment and the necessary drive for technological leadership on which the country's present economically privileged position rests. Mr. Diebold adds "the Communists are positively embracing automation while many Americans are hoping it will just go away."

Mr. Diebold, who practices what he preaches and operates 25,000 computers in his own management consultant firm, says that nations as well as companies which do not come to grips with the full meaning of modern technology will crumble.

The examples are all around us: push button elevators, office computers, telephone dials, household appliances, voting machines and tabulators, vending boxes, printing devices and all the huge automatic machines which are used in construction work, transportation, communication, and even hospitals.

Naturally, these inventions affect manpower labor. In many instances they increase unemployment and cause great alarm and frustration to thousands of individuals who find themselves replaced by machines. But automation is a fact that must be faced and most companies, especially big ones, offer training courses to help their employees adjust to the change. Young graduates looking for jobs should be aware of automation and accommodate themselves to the opportunities it affords. The impersonal machine must still have a person to create it and to push the button.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

State Department Drags Feet, Loses

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Before Tunisia's President Bourguiba issued his startling call for a peaceful settlement of Arab-Israeli differences, he sent a secret emissary to sound out U. S. officials about the prospects. His most trusted aide, Cecil Hourani, spent two months carefully exploring the idea with Washington officials.

For an Arab leader to suggest coming to terms with Israel is considered heresy by many Arabs, and Bourguiba's bold proposal has caused an uproar in the Arab world.

The Tunisian President wanted outside support, specifically from the United States, before springing his surprise proposal. This was the reason for Hourani's secret mission.

Seemingly, it shouldn't have taken two months for him to persuade American policymakers that an Arab peace overture to Israel was a good idea. But the State Department was reluctant to approve any policy that might rile other Arab leaders.

Thus Hourani had considerable difficulty persuading the State Department. He held a round of secret meetings in Washington and New York City before he got grudging American approval.

This wasn't the first time that Hourani had encountered State Department timidity. Early in the Kennedy administration, he came to Washington to invite Peace Corps volunteers to Tunisia.

The late President Kennedy sent him to see Bill Haddad, then Deputy Director of the Peace Corps. Haddad immediately warned: "You must understand that the personnel we send you comes out of the computer. We could send all Jews or no Jews at all." "That's no problem for us," replied Hourani.

After he had already agreed to admit Jews, the State Department was afraid this would offend other Arab nations and opposed the arrangement. Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, backing up Haddad, refused to send only non-Jewish volunteers to any Arab country.

In the showdown, the State Department lost. Peace Corps volunteers, many of them Jewish, went not only to Tunisia but to several other Arab nations.

Note: Ironically, Haddad during a later bid for Congress was accused of being pro-Arab because he happens to have an Arab name. This hurt him among Jewish voters in Manhattan. Actually, Haddad is Jewish; but he said that if he had to be Jewish to win, the election wasn't worth winning.

USA and The Juntas

The United States has partly itself to blame for the turmoil in the Dominican Republic. In the first place we sent so many arms to that country during the days of Dictator Trujillo that it has enough weapons to arm revolutionary armies for years to come.

Second, the Johnson administration recognized the military junta which threw out President Bosch three weeks after LBJ took office. Bosch was the first Dominican president elected in 32 years, and when he was overthrown, Sept. 25, 1963, the Kennedy administration let it be known that it would wait a long, long time before recognizing the military regime which ousted him.

Without recognition, the new regime could not exist, and there was praise all over Latin America for Kennedy's stand in favor of democracy.

One of Johnson's first acts was to appoint his old Texas friend, Ambassador Tom Mann, as Assistant Secretary of State for Latin America, and one of Tom's first acts was to recognize the Dominican military junta.

So it was only a matter of time before the legitimately elected regime of President Bosch revolted to put him back.

Note — Tom Mann has now been promoted to be Under Secretary of State.

The World Today

Showdown With Reds On Two Fronts

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is now in a showdown with communism on two continents. In both cases there has been criticism of this country. In both cases President Johnson did a lot of explaining.

In Asia the climax came slowly, starting back in the 1950s with aid for the South Vietnamese government. Then this country sent military "advisers." Now U.S. forces in Viet Nam are totally at war with the Communists.

The pace was lots faster in Latin America, starting as a rescue mission last Wednesday and by Sunday night becoming a struggle against Communists in the Dominican Republic.

When Johnson went on nationwide television and radio last Wednesday night to explain why he was sending Marines into the revolt-torn Dominican Republic, he said the reason was to rescue Americans. He said nothing about communism.

But very quickly administration sources, unnamed, were being quoted as saying they were suspicious that Fidel Castro had a hand in the rebellion.

The revolt, begun by some young army officers, was against the three-man junta which, never elected by the people, had been running the country since 1963 when the elected president, Juan Bosch, was thrown out.

He had been the first freely elected president since dictator Rafael Trujillo took over the country as his private domain in 1930. He was assassinated in 1961.

Between them and Bosch's election in early 1963 there had been four governments and unrest. The army-backed junta which tossed out Bosch tore up the constitution and distanced the Congress.

At first the United States suspended diplomatic relations but within a few months lifted the suspension and since that time has put more than $60 million in aid into the Dominican Republic, run by the junta.

The young army officers' revolt last week got twisted when navy and air force leaders turned against them. The revolt wasn't crushed but got worse. The rebels were demanding the return of Bosch.

More American troops were sent into the republic after Johnson's Wednesday talk. On Friday he went on the air again, explaining again the troops had been sent in to protect Americans. But this time he added a new element.

He said "there are signs that people trained outside the Dominican Republic are seeking to gain control" of the revolution. But he still didn't mention Communists. But he got close to it.

He said the United States would "never depart from its commitment for the preservation of the right of all the free people of this hemisphere to choose their own course without falling prey to international conspiracy from any quarter."

There was a good deal of unfavorable reaction around the world to the American action, and particularly in Latin America where there were demonstrations in Chile and Panama.

If the revolt was crushed, the right-wing junta would still be running the show in the Dominican Republic.

Then last Saturday night at 11 o'clock Johnson issued a statement saying, without mentioning Trujillo's name, "at no one wanted to return to the brutal dictatorship of the past."

Meanwhile, unnamed sources within the administration were telling newsmen that about 58 prominent Communists or supporters of Castro were directing the rebel fighting.

And in the Dominican Republic a former U.S. ambassador, John Bartlow Martin, said he was convinced the uprising had been completely taken over by Castroite Communists. He wouldn't explain any further.

But the Washington Post correspondent there said many foreign diplomats in the Dominican Republic thought the Communists taking part in the revolt represented the noisiest element but had no dominant influence in it.

The United States continued to send in troops until by Sunday night it had 9,500 there. Sunday night Johnson, as if trying to answer critics everywhere, went on the air again, this time for a half hour.

He explained all over again the troops went in to rescue Americans but now he finally reached the point of linking communism to the revolt. He said they had taken it over. Many, he said, without mentioning a number, had been trained in Cuba.

Now, he said, the American goal in the Dominican Republic is "to help prevent another Communist state in this hemisphere."

Hearing Date Set on Billboard Bill

May 18 has been set for a hearing before the House Roads and Highways Committee on a bill aimed at returning scenery to its proper place along Missouri's federal highway system.

Specifically, the measure which is being pushed hard by Rep. Walter Meyer of St. Louis County, would regulate, restrict and control the placement of billboards and similar advertising which now clutter Missouri trafficways.

Under provisions of the Meyer anti-billboard measure, advertisements could be no closer to affected highways than 600 feet and such signs must be located within 12 miles of the facility advertised; and provide essential information concerning food and/or lodging, automotive services and outdoor recreational activities.

If approved, the new law would be administered by the State Highway Commission which would have the power to charge fees ranging from one to two dollars plus establish rules relative to size, type, spacing, location and color of acceptable signs.

In addition, after the effective date, all signs deemed acceptable by the state would have to carry the name and address of the owner.

Should the bill pass, and at this point it appears there will be a great deal of lobbying against it, the state of Missouri could receive up to $3 million in bonus money from the federal government.

The bonus money could be spent by the state for anything it wanted provided that highways were involved.

However, the federal offer for this bonus money expires July 1 and since the bill has no provisions (emergency clause) for an effective date other than the normal date for such bills which would be this October, an extension would have to be sought.

This, Meyer indicated, probably could be accomplished easily.

Similar legislation was proposed during the 1963 legislative session, but received little headway. This was because, Meyer said, some question the legality of provisions which extended the Highway Commission's power to state roadways.

Under his bill, this problem is effectively avoided by omitting any reference to highways other than federal or defense roads.

Meyer said he considers the bill "no different than a zoning code adopted by a city." And the federal government's interest primarily is in beautifying the nation's highway system, he said.

Anti-litter Campaign Being Pushed Hard

Recently, a nationally-known business columnist pointed in glowing terms to the continuing upward spiral in the purchase of disposable products, primarily paper cups and plates. In the past four years, he noted, sales have nearly doubled and this year should approach $11 million.

Today, nearly all products can be purchased in a disposable container, ranging from beer to any number of items.

And, distressingly to many, these new products, by their very nature, are causing quite a headache — and an expensive one at that.

Last year, the Missouri Highway Department issued a report stating that the cost of removing litter along the highways in this state averages $23 per mile and although not every mile of the 32,000 miles of highway in Missouri is cleared, the annual cost still runs into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A campaign to lessen the problem has been initiated in Missouri by the U. S. Brewers Association which is seeking the editorial support of Missouri publishers. The contest, with suitable plaques being awarded, runs from May 24-Sept. 6.

If the response is good enough, association officials indicate, the contest may be placed on an annual basis.

Hiring Practices of Schools Cited

The Missouri Commission on Human Rights, taking note that many schools now are in the process of hiring teachers for the coming fall term, has issued a reminder to all school districts in the state to rid their application forms of any reference to race or religion.

Forrest P. Carson, chairman of the commission, wrote each school superintendent pointing out that fair employment practices provisions apply equally to schools as well as industry.

Carson also noted that a questionnaire concerning employment discrimination is now being tabulated to determine the extent to which it prevails among Missouri schools.

The Mature Parent

Death Preferred To Life

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Defense Secretary McNamara recently projected 80,000,000 American fatalities in the event of a surprise nuclear attack.

As a result, I understand there has been some official criticism of that "apathy" of ours toward the adoption of a national fallout shelter program. The dictionary's definition of apathy is "indifference; disinterest."

I, for one, am only too happy to confess my indifference and disinterest in a fallout shelter program. What's more, I know why I feel apathy toward it. I know that were I to survive the poison of radioactivity by reason of the protection afforded me by my fallout shelter, I should emerge from it into a wasteland so terrible to me that I should die anyway of the poison of unimaginable grief.

No matter how efficient was my shelter against incineration and radioactivity, it could not shelter me. It could not shelter me against the wish to die along with everything else I hold dear — my fellow humans who didn't make a shelter in time; my country's ruined hills, the water of its rivers and brooks lost to steam; its earth fused into glass by unearthly heat. So all the efficiency of my fallout shelter would have gone for nothing. I'd be dead in a day of grief for the dead world.

Are my reasons for "apathy" toward fallout shelter programs also your reasons? If so, I think we should all get together instead of just going on letting the shelter promoters criticize our "apathy" as though it were a kind of dull and stupid insensitivity to facts.

Sometimes I wonder if these promoters know anything about love or grief.

Sometimes I wonder at the curious patriotism that can expect Americans who love America to survive the horrors of her death by nuclear war. I don't understand how they can expect living human beings to want to continue to live on an earth that has died. I don't know what they think people are made of. I just know that they can't count on me to do any pioneering in their postnuclear war world.

It took people who survived the concentration camps of Germany a long, long time to recover the wish to live again. Some of them never recovered it. They wanted out of a place where one group of human beings found it possible to kill 6,000,000 other human beings.

I, too, would want out from a place where one group of human beings could choose to incinerate 80,000,000 other human beings. I'd want death in preference to any continuing relationship to the human race.

Perry Man Drowns In Rescue Attempt

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — James Gary Vaughn, 17, of Perry, Mo., drowned early Sunday while trying to rescue a girl who was swimming in a strip mine pit.

Vaughn went to the pit with Billy Wayne Moore, 15, of Auxvasse; Judy Robinson, 14, and Darlene Kelsey, 15, both of Mexico, Mo.

The girls decided to swim across the pit, but one soon called for help and the boys dived in, deputy sheriff Paul Hilt said.

Moore said he reached the girl and helped her ashore, but Vaughn went down. The body was recovered. The girls were taken to a Fulton hospital for treatment of shock.

Early Bird Broadcast First Time

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On Nov. 18, 1951, the late Edward R. Murrow presided over the premiere of the CBS "See It Now" program as the cameras showed first the Atlantic Ocean and then the Pacific.

"For the first time," said Murrow on that day, "people are able to sit at home and look at two oceans."

Sunday for the first time people were able to sit at home and look at a bullfight in Barcelona, a May music festival in Assisi, an open-heart operation in Houston, Russian sailors dancing on a British ship in Portsmouth, England, and many other events in North America and Europe.

It was the live, two-way inaugural broadcast via the satellite Early Bird, which is now available for commercial telecasts. Made up of bits and pieces from all over, it was primarily a demonstration of it in operation, and something of a miracle of production logistics.

The assorted events came on just about as scheduled and, in the main, things worked out pretty well. The commentary of the BBC man on tunnel and dam building in France and Italy, cricket in England and pelota in Paris sounded as if he were broadcasting from an echo chamber. The great irony, however, was that the picture of baseball practice in Houston's Astrodome was lost to a portion of the United States.

The broadcast was an important communications landmark and more than suggested Early Bird's potential.

All three major American television networks carried the pool program, and each had its own staff man reading the narration. Sometimes it is hard to equate the marvels of television's technology with the inanities of "Gilligan's Island" and other such schedule stuffers.

CBS' special "Hour with Edward R. Murrow" on Friday, which reran his two-ocean scoop of almost 14 years ago, was a warm and well-edited summary of the broadcaster's career in war and peace. It ranged from his terse, grim radio report on the sights and smells of Belsen concentration camp to a gentle, sunny interview with Grandma Moses. It was a fine program.

Julie Has Filmland At Her Feet

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How does it feel at 29 to have the movie world practically at your feet?

"Very nice," said Julie Andrews, "but slightly bewildering. And a little frightening."

The temperature outside the sound stage was in the 80s. The lovely Londoner, in polka-dot slacks and white shirt, looked cool and distractingly beautiful.

Before her three pictures were released, she explained, "I had more freedom. I can't go anywhere now without being recognized."

Success gives her the feeling that every new project must be better than the one before.

"Mary Poppins," her first picture, in which she played the high-flying, vocally magnificent governess, is the hottest film in Disney Studio history. Studio accountants gleefully predict a worldwide gross of $67 million.

Her critics hail Miss Andrews as "an incomparable artist." "The greatest musical talent show business has produced in 25 years." In little more than a year her price per picture has risen from $150,000 to $700,000. What next for the international star?

After the spectacularly beautiful "Sound of Music" and "The Americanization of Emily" she wants roles "as varied as possible."

Her present about-face is as a missionary's wife of the early 1800s in an adaptation of James Michener's "Hawaii."

Then comedy, "The Public Eye," in London next February, followed by biography, "The Gertrude Lawrence Story," in Hollywood the following June.

She shares a rented Beverly Hills home with her daughter Emma, 2½, a housekeeper, a nurse and a toy white poodle. She and husband Tony Walton, a set and costume designer, run up "enormous" long-distance phone bills. His current film assignment is in London.

FARMING---

Across Pettis County

By LARRY HALE
Director, MU Extension CenterCorn Stunt and Maize Dwarf Mosaic

Farmers who regularly raise corn are asking questions about two corn diseases new to Missouri, corn stunt virus and maize dwarf mosaic. They want to know how far the diseases have spread so far, and how far they may spread this year.

MU Extension Field Crops Specialist Bill Murphy says corn stunt or maize dwarf mosaic symptoms were found in corn fields in 42 counties in Missouri last year, indicating rapid spread from the three counties where it was located in 1963. Several counties around Pettis County had the disease.

The heaviest infestations were located in or near the Missouri and Missouri River valleys, and seemed to be worst in fields near to or containing Johnson grass. However, some infestations have been found in North Missouri far from Johnson grass.

So, a reasonable expectation would be that we will have this disease or diseases in Pettis County in 1965, although our total damage in this newly infested area may not be great.

Rootworm Less Likely in First Year Corn

It is possible for first year corn to be injured by western corn rootworm larvae, but such instances are the exception rather than the rule. It depends largely upon previous cropping history.

That is the situation as seen by George Thomas, MU extension entomologist. To date, it has been the experience in 10 infested northwest Missouri grain sorghums, and grassy idle legumes, soybeans, grain sorghums, or retired land, seldom develop a severe problem.

However, where these crops are allowed to become weedy and grassy, there have been a few instances of moderate damage. In addition, there have been instances of severe damage to corn following alfalfa, grain sorghums and grassy idle land in Nebraska.

If first year corn has previously been in pasture, there is little chance of western corn rootworm problem, says Thomas, but troubles with wireworms, cutworms, and possible other soil insects can be expected. In this area we still recommend Aldrin or Heptachlor as insecticides.

Chemical Weed
Control for Corn

2,4-D post-emergence treatment: Use 1/4 to 1/2 lb. per acre of 2,4-D acid equivalent when needed to control broadleaved weeds. The amine form is not as likely to injure the corn. This treatment gives practically no control of grasses. Apply anytime there is a broadleaved weed problem except from the beginning of tasseling until after the early dough stage. When ground equipment is used, drops should be used on the boom if the corn is over 10 inches high and the weeds are considerably shorter than the corn. Adjust the spray fans cross about 2 1/2 in. above tops of the tallest weeds.

The 2,4-D post-emergence treatment sometimes causes some temporary brittleness in corn stalks. Plan on the possibility of stalks being too brittle for cultivation for up to one week after spraying.

2,4-D lay-by treatment: One and one-half lbs. per acre of 2,4-D (the amine form is both cheaper and safer than the ester) can be used as a directed spray on the ground after the last cultivation. Adjust nozzles on drops to give even coverage of soil surface with a minimum of material being sprayed on the corn plants.

This treatment gives a pre-emergence effect on weeds. It is effective on emerged broadleaved weeds which receive the spray and on both broadleaved weeds and weed grasses which have not emerged at the time of treatment. The 2,4-D lay-by treatment is useful on fields on which late emerging annual weeds, especially giant foxtail, may be a problem.

2,4-D pre-emergence: From 1 to 2 lbs. per acre, acid equivalent, of 2,4-D ester is recommended (damage to germinating corn is more likely to occur with amine salt than with the ester). One and one-half lbs. per acre is the proper rate for the average weed problem. Two lbs. per acre are required on heavy soils or where heavy giant foxtail infestations are expected. The 2,4-D pre-emergence treatment should not be used on sandy soils because the heavy rains may carry the chemical downward and injure germination of corn.

In addition to controlling broadleaved weeds, this 2,4-D treatment will control annual weed grasses for three to five weeks after application. By the time weeds start to grow, the corn will usually be 12 to 15 in. tall and the early, slow, tedious cultivation will be eliminated. An over-all application will normally delay the need for cultivation for a longer time than a band application.

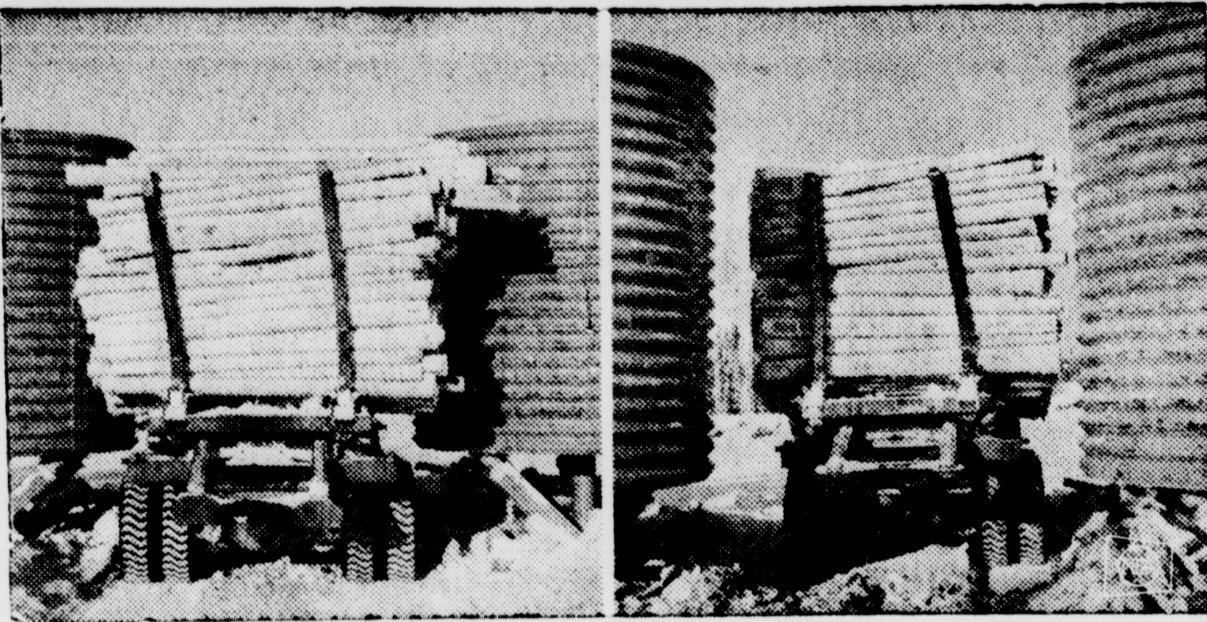

CDAA plus TCBC ("Randox-T") Pre-emergence: Use a per-acre rate of 3 lbs. of CDAA carrying about 7 1/4 lbs. of TCBC. This treatment usually gives good control of annual weed grasses and annual broadleaved weeds. The duration of weed control is similar to that with 2,4-D pre-emergence, but the cost will usually require that it be applied in bands over the row. Thus, weed growth in the middles determines the amount of cultivation required. Where it can be used, 2,4-D broadcast is likely to be more practical. This mixture will injure soybeans.

CDAA ("Randox") gives good control of annual weed grasses but only fair control of annual broadleaved weeds. It is used as a pre-emergence treatment at a rate of 4 lbs. per acre.

Both CDAA and CDAA plus TCBC are irritating to the applicator. Granules of these materials are equally as effective as sprays and somewhat less irritating.

Atrazine Pre-emergence or post-emergence: Two lbs. per acre give good control on almost all soils. Three lbs. or more may be necessary on heavy soil that has a high organic matter content. The spray mixture is a suspension of fine, solid particles in water. Be sure that there is sufficient agitation of the material in the spray tank to prevent the atrazine from settling out. Atrazine will kill weeds up to 1 1/2 in. tall and still give control of those weeds not yet emerged. Label restrictions limit post-emergence applications to not later than three weeks after planting. Over-all application usually gives control of annual weeds for the entire season. Bank application usually requires as many or more cultivations to control weeds in the middles as are required to control weeds following the over-all pre-emergence treatment with 2,4-D. Treatment with atrazine is not fully effective if the soil surface remains quite dry for two to three weeks after application.

Atrazine residue in the soil may injure wheat, oats, or forage crops planted in the fall or spring following an atrazine-treated corn crop with corn and sorghum. The breakdown of atrazine requires warm weather and moist soils. Long periods of drought or a long winter season can slow this sufficiently load enter, the drums are pushed apart. In the process the stray ends of wood are aligned (photo right) and the truck is on its way. Sure enough, the contraption is called a load aligner.

Three plaques donated by the Missouri Farmers Association were presented to the vocational agriculture department of Greer, Ridge High School at the FFA Parent and Son Banquet on April 28.

One plaque was for making the high grade at the field crops judging school held at Marshall Feb. 12. The school was sponsored by the MFA and the Marshall public school system.

The other two plaques were for finishing with the high grade in both field crops and soils at Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg on April 6. The school was sponsored by the agriculture department of the college and the MFA donated the plaques.

that some injury, usually to early planted soybeans, may occasionally occur.

Under near normal weather conditions, soybeans are safe if the rate of atrazine has not been above 2 lbs. per acre. It is safe to plant any crop on the land by mid-summer of the year following a spring application of atrazine. Atrazine has not injured corn germination at recommended rates.

Simazine pre-emergence: Simazine can be used at the same rate with, for all practical purposes, the same residue precaution as atrazine. Simazine is not absorbed by the leaves so it must be applied before the weeds emerge. This material may require slightly more moisture than atrazine to make it effective and the residue in the soil may last just a little longer.

Linuron ("Lorox") post-emergence directed: Apply as a directed spray to cover the weeds but to get as little of the spray as possible on the corn. Use a rate of about 2 lbs. per acre. A wetting agent at a concentration of 1/2 per cent in the spray mixture (1/2 gal. per 100 gal.) will improve the performance of the treatment. Injury to those corn leaves receiving the spray is normal, but if only a few lower leaves are affected, this would not be expected to result in appreciable, if any, reduction in corn yield. Best results are obtained if the corn is from 12 to 18 in. high. Weeds should be under 8 in. high. Be careful not to spray over the top of the corn plants. Do not use on sandy soils.

In all cases use the recommended amount and follow the precautions.

Business
Thievery
Is Costly

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A thief in a business firm is more likely to be a trusted employee than an ordinary worker.

That's the conclusion of Saul D. Astor, president of Management Safeguards, Inc., a nationwide protective and investigative agency.

The reason is that a trusted employee is in a better position to steal without detection. Motivations usually are to finance drinking, gambling and indiscretions.

Astor, whose firm has been ferreting out thieves for eight years, estimates that internal thievery accounts for a $1 billion loss yearly to industrial and retail establishments.

Going through his files, Astor came up with this example of a trusted employee's thievery:

The manager of a discount store with a volume of $5 million a year altered receiving reports to indicate that the store received much more merchandise than was actually delivered. He was in collusion with a vendor who paid him one-half of the excess payment. This store manager also stole heavily on Sundays, when he loaded up his own automobile.

Management safeguards discovered that the manager had opened a store of his own in his wife's name and that he had stocked and financed it with the money and merchandise taken from his employer's store.

This dishonest store manager had been a close friend of the owner of the discount chain for 15 years and entertained him at the home whenever the owner was in town.

Astor says his company assigns operatives who pose as everything from porters to department managers.

"Normally we can locate a problem and bring it to conclusion in 60 to 90 days," he says.

The dead: Miss Margene Savage, 20, of Florence, who was reigning as Miss Kansas; her mother, Mrs. Marguerite Savage, 47; James Kaminski, 45, of Emporia, and his wife, Gloria, 43.

Injured seriously were Ray

Blasche, 60, of Emporia, and his wife, Dora. The Kaminskis were riding in the Blasche car. Miss Savage was in a convertible driven by her mother. John Ramsey of the Kansas Highway Patrol said Mrs. Savage was unable to stop when Floyd Jacob of Reading, Kan., made a left turn off U. S. 50 in front of her. Mrs. Savage's car ran off a shoulder and skidded head-on into the Blasche car.

Ful-O-Pep Gro-Pig grower

From 6 weeks of age to 60 pounds in weight, pigs are already weaned, are eating well, and are gaining to the extent their feed permits.

New Ful-O-Pep Gro-Pig Grower is built specifically to meet their nutritional requirements during this period. That's why both Research Farm and field results uniformly show a pound of gain on only 1.8 to 2 pounds of feed.

You can expect the same performance efficiency when you feed new Ful-O-Pep Gro-Pig Grower to your well managed hogs.

Baseball Future Looking Better For The Cardinals

They Hurt Otherwise

McCovey's Feet Make Him Move

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie McCovey isn't standing still. He can't. His feet hurt when he does.

McCovey, whose throbbing size 13-D footies feel comfortable only when he's on the move, got out of the batter's box quickly Sunday, hammering Bob Miller's first pitch in the 10th inning for a homer that powered the San Francisco Giants to a 4-2 victory over Los Angeles.

Way Back When . . .
THE STORY DIDN'T GIVE the reason for it, but on May 3, 25 years ago, 14 Sedalians climbed on donkeys and tried to play a baseball game here. The results showed the Lions ousting Kiwanis 2-1 1/2, believe it or not.

The whole thing was done in fun, the story says, and the game might have ended in a tie if Nathan E. Barasch had ridden his donkey around the bases the way he was supposed to after making a run. Instead, he led the animal, apparently because it refused to budge under other circumstances.

The result of the rules infraction was that a half point was shaved from the Kiwanis score. It's hard to say how many of the players had ever ridden a donkey before the game, but it must have been something to watch.

The only players who didn't have to incubate themselves with the beasts were pitchers and catchers — and they were probably thankful for it. The donkeys were a permanent part of the game for all the other players though, from shortstops to outfielders. What an idea for a fund-raising campaign that would make!

Lineup for the Lions ran like this: Cline Cain, Ray Potts, Everett White, Kenneth Johnson, Herman Cook, Carl Kennedy,

Howard Robinson and Herb Hall. For Kiwanis it was Clyde Heynen, John Ryan, J. T. Alexander, Barasch, Ben Robinson, Harry Lindstrom, Paul Hedderich and George Chambers.

THE AMATEUR BASEBALL season was getting underway in Sedalia, with the Merchants primed to go against Auxvasse of the Missouri Amateur League. The local diamond was in good condition, and a fast game was expected — with plenty of fans to watch the action. Remember those days?

Pirates Are Good Tonic For Birds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Feeling sluggish? Runtown?

Try some vitamins unless you're the St. Louis Cardinals.

Then call in the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Buccaneers are the perfect-upper anytime the Cardinals get that losing feeling and they proved it again Sunday.

The Cards swept a doubleheader from the Pirates, 9-6 and 5-4 in St. Louis, coming from behind in both games. The victories gave the Cardinals a sweep of the four-game series and extended their string of consecutive victories against Pittsburgh to 12, dating back to last season.

Kansas City also found the right prescription and had a relatively good Sunday, splitting a doubleheader with Los Angeles in Kansas City. After losing the first game, 10-8, the A's broke a seven-game losing streak by pounding the Angels, 9-5, in the nightcap.

St. Louis, having early season troubles, had won only four of 12 games and rested in last place until the Pirates happened along.

A pair of 3-2 victories Friday and Saturday and the Sunday sweep boosted the Cardinals to 8-8 and moved them into a tie for fourth place.

The trailed, 2-0 and 3-1, in the opener Sunday before pouncing on Bob Friend for five straight singles and four runs in the fifth inning.

An error and Curt Flood's double scored the decisive run in the sixth and Tim McCarver singled home two insurance runs in a three-run seventh.

Bob Gibson struggled through eight innings for his fourth victory without a defeat, Ron Taylor got him out of a three on, none out situation in the ninth.

In the nightcap, Bob Veale of the Pirates was coasting with a 4-1 lead after seven innings, having given up only one hit—Ken Boyer's first homer. A walk, a double by pinch-hitter Phil Gagliano and singles by Flood and Lou Brock and a doubleplay tied the score in the eighth, and Bill White opened the ninth with a game-winning homer.

The Cardinals will try to carry on against San Francisco tonight when Curt Simmons goes after his first victory after three defeats. Ron Hervel, 1-0, will pitch for the Giants.

The A's ended their latest losing streak on Bill Bryan's three-run homer, which highlighted a five-run first inning, and on a two-run double by Tom Reynolds in a four-run third.

Kansas City led in the first game, 6-4, until the Angels exploded with five markers in the seventh.

Nellie Mathews and Wayne Causey each had five hits in the twinbill for the A's, who hammered 28 hits for the day.

Washington invades Kansas City tonight. The A's will throw Diego Segui, 1-2, against Pete Richert, 1-1.

Howard Robinson and Herb Hall. For Kiwanis it was Clyde Heynen, John Ryan, J. T. Alexander, Barasch, Ben Robinson, Harry Lindstrom, Paul Hedderich and George Chambers.

Sports Honorees Told

Parental Interference Big Problem In Little League

Parental interference was cited as the major problem facing Little League administrators by several speakers who Sunday night took an introspective look at the youth baseball program at the first annual "Nite of Sports" banquet at Sacred Heart cafeteria.

Little League managers, officers, coaches, sponsors and umpires were honored guests at the sports fete attended by some 125 persons. The banquet was sponsored for the league by Mike O'Connor, Bob Parkhurst and Carl Yates.

Marvin Blaine, a member of the Little League board of directors, emceed the program and introduced other board members including Carl Walker, new president of the league, and Ken Melton, the outgoing president. Also introduced were members of the coaching staffs at Smith-Cotton and Sacred Heart High Schools.

Key sports figures on the program were Vernon Kennedy, Mendon, Mo., former Warrensburg State athletic great and a former major league pitcher; Bruce Finlayson, Carrollton, an official with the National Football League and a past district administrator for the national Little League; Jack Minnis, of Carrollton, national Little League district administrator; Howard Reid, Carrollton, Little League umpire consultant; Hi Simmons, veteran baseball coach at the University of Missouri; and Norris Patterson, director of athletics at William Jewell College, Liberty.

Several sports greats who were invited were unable to attend. They included Jimmy Gleason, former outfielder with the Cincinnati Reds and presently a Yankee scout; Lou Fette, former Boston Braves hurler; Walker Cooper, former St. Louis Cardinal catcher; Ray Evans, former K. U. All-American; and Zack Wheat, who is hospitalized due to illness.

Plaques were presented to past presidents of the Little League. They included Dan Robinson, Dick Snow, Aubrey Owens, Ralph Hamlin, Archie Hughes, who was not present, and Ken Melton.

Patterson, a former coach at William Jewell who has done extensive research in the Little League program, called on Little League officers and managers to keep parents' influence out of the sport.

He cited one suburban league which accomplished this by penalizing boys whose parents came on to the field by benching the youngster for the next two games. This step resulted in boys pleading with their parents not to interfere.

Publicity about Little League must be handled carefully, Patterson said, and it at all possible the selection of All-Star teams should be avoided.

"Results and schedules for Little League are fine publicity," he said. "But stories playing up one boy's accomplishments or batting averages shouldn't be allowed. Youngsters this age are not old enough to handle this kind of publicity and it can lead to problems later."

Pre-dinner music was provided by the Dickie Phillips orchestra.

Invocation was by the Rev. Father William Miller, assistant pastor at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, and the Rev. Charles Cheffey, pastor of First Methodist Church, gave the benediction.

Repeats His Feat

King Hits Winning Run For Senators

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim King hit the pop that enabled the Washington Senators to edge Cleveland 3-2 in the first game of a doubleheader Sunday. The feat so exhilarated the 32-year-old pinch hitter that he drove in the decisive run with a single in the Senators' 4-2 second-game triumph.

Now in his ninth major league season, the last five with Washington, King hadn't had much success this season. Before Sunday's doubleheader, he had only two hits in 28 trips to the plate for an .071 average.

But Manager Gil Hodges selected the outfielder to bat for Ken Hamlin with one out and the bases loaded in a 2-2 game in the eighth inning. King quickly became involved with another original Senator, Cleveland first baseman Chuck Hinton.

He lofted a pop fly into foul territory just beyond the Indians' dugout near the stands. Hinton caught the pop but fumbled when it came to keeping Ed Brinkman from scoring from third with the winning run.

Brinkman made it, and King had his fifth run-batted-in of the season. It was in the eighth inning of the second game that he got his sixth, again being called to the plate as a pinch hitter with the bases loaded and one out.

This time, batting for Joe McCabe, he popped a single to center field that scored Don Lock with the run that snapped a 2-2 tie.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota edged Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings before losing 5-4, Baltimore swept New York 4-2 in 10 and 5-3, Boston took two from Detroit 2-1 and 10-3 and Kansas City defeated Los Angeles 9-5 after losing 10-8.

Only a few minutes before King's winning pop in the opener, Max Alvis tied the game for the Indians with a two-run homer. McCabe had homered for the Senators.

Ken McMullen's two-run blast gave Washington a 2-1 lead in the nightcap, but Cleveland tied it in the seventh on Vic Davalillo's single and a pinch hit double by Al Luplow.

A member of the old Senators and the majors' defending home run champion, Harmon Killebrew, finally clouted his first homer of 1965, a two-run blast in Minnesota's eighth inning that tied the game 2-2. Then, in the 10th, he beat Chicago with a run-scoring double.

The White Sox won the nightcap behind Floyd Robinson's first-inning homer and a two-run shot by Don Buford in the third. The decisive run came in the seventh on Ken Berry's double and a single by Danny Cater.

Veteran Robin Roberts stymied the Yankees on six hits for his third victory against no defeats. He allowed only one Yankee to reach third while the Orioles wrapped up the second game on Paul Blair's homer in the third and Luis Aparicio's run-scoring triple and a balk in the fifth.

Run - producing singles by John Orsino and Jerry Adair in the 10th inning won the first game for Baltimore.

New Stars Appearing In Football

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Veteran backs like Light Horse Harry Wilson of Nebraska, Bob Skahan of Kansas and Glenn Baxter of Oklahoma State have started to take charge in Big Eight spring football, although the stage is still filled with talented rookies.

Wilson, the running star of the Cotton Bowl, broke lose for several long, sensational runs as the Reds beat the Whites 36-27 at Nebraska. The squads were divided as evenly as possible by Coach Bob Devaney. Walt Barnes, veteran middle guard, was outstanding on defense.

Skahan threw two touchdown passes and passed for 177 yards as the Kansas Whites, composed of the first two teams, beat the Whites 18-12.

Baxter was the offensive standout of OSU's full-scale scrimmage which included a 54-yard field goal by Charles Durkee.

Devaney and OSU coach Phil Cutchin were optimistic but Jack Mitchell of Kansas was singing the blues. Devaney had this to say:

"Some of the underclassmen looked real good. Either we have found some depth we didn't know we had, or we're not as good as we thought we were."

Cutchin said "the defense looked the best it has in 2 1/2 years," but qualified this by noting the first two offenses were mixed.

"Our freshmen are going to be a pleasant surprise to OSU fans at next Saturday's intrasquad game," Cutchin added.

Kansas passers put up 77 and hit 26 for 381 yards. Mitchell said "we couldn't catch the ball at all, weren't throwing well and at all times looked bad on defense."

Missouri lost defensive back Ken Boston with a hip injury.

Gary Lane threw one T.D. pass as the first-string MU Whites won 42-0. Rookie end Russell Washington, 6-foot-6, scored a T.D. on a fumble, set up two touchdowns with a stolen pass and fumble recovery, and blocked two passes.

Oklahoma finished its spring practice with the Reds, led by the first string backfield, beating the Whites 34-26. Coach Gomer Jones liked the "good hitting, prime tackle and pretty crisp blocking."

At Colorado, the team with the first string backfield won three touchdowns to one with Larry Plantz, fast 185-pound rookie, a standout. Colorado winds up spring drills by meeting the Alumni Saturday before an expected 10,000. Gale Weidner will quarterback the grads.

Iowa State had a 45-minute scrimmage and Coach Clay Stapleton was pleased with the hard hitting. The annual intrasquad game will be Saturday, but another week of work will follow it.

DON'T BANK ON IT—East Germany's Wolfgang Scheidel and Michael Kohler made it past this hairpin curve in the World Tobogganing Championships at Davos, Switzerland, and went on to win the double's title.

Six New Records Are Set

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Colorado's Jim Miller broke his own American record in the 330-yard hurdles and Missouri's Robin Lingle ran a 4.07.1 mile—fastest this season in the nation's collegiate ranks—as the Big Eight's talented track athletes established six new season bests Saturday.

Miller, the king of Big Eight hurdles, smashed his 36.2 American record by one-tenth of a second as Colorado whipped Nebraska 97-48 at Boulder. He also won the high hurdles in 14.1.

Lingle also won the three-mile in 14:38.4, best in the league this season, as Missouri beat Kansas State 91 1/2 to 52 1/2 at Columbia. It was the best open mile of Lingle's career.

The lean senior from Philadelphia, smashed his 36.2 American record by one-tenth of a second as Colorado whipped Nebraska 97-48 at Boulder. He also won the high hurdles in 14.1.

Three of the new season bests in the Big Eight were established at Norman, where Oklahoma whipped Oklahoma State 89-56.

Jim Johnson, Sooner sophomore, leaped 6-9 3/4 in the high jump, a half inch beyond the former top by Missouri's Steve Herndon—who reached 6-10 1/4 indoors. Oklahoma State's Russ Lavery hit a season peak of 6-9 but settled for second.

Jim Farrell of Oklahoma, with a 15-9 pole vault, and Miles Lister of OSU, with 177 feet in the discus, recorded the other season bests.

In addition to the six bests, 22 other performances were good enough to rank in the top five for the season. Nebraska's Dave Crook, with a 47.3 quarter and 21.3 in the 220, had a pair of No. 3 seasonal rankings.

Kansas outclassed Southern Illinois 108 1/2 to 31 1/2 at Lawrence and Air Force beat Iowa State 90-55 at Air Force in other meets.

Glenn Martin of Kansas won the broad jump in 23-4 1/4 and the triple jump in 46-10 1/2. Ken Farris Jr., Oklahoma sophomore, turned a similar double in 23-7 and 46-11. Teammate Jim Jackson, another sophomore, won the 100 and 220 in 9.6 and 21.4. Missouri's Charles Allen did it in 9.6 and 21.5.

K-State's Bill Floerke threw in 242.3 in the javelin, best of the weekend although under his nation-leading 266-5 1/2 in the KU Relays. Tom Purma of Kansas had 226-8 1/4, his career best.

Ron Peters of Missouri had an outstanding 36.8 in the 330 hurdles although overshadowed by Miller's record. The best half mile of the weekend was a 1:51.2 by OSU's John Perry.

MAJOR HOOPLE

March Cost To Taxpayer $510,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — It cost the Defense Department $510,000 to protect the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights marchers, the Pentagon said today.

This raised to nearly $13 million the cost of using federal troops and federalized National Guardsmen in five major civil rights crises dating back to Little Rock in 1957.

The Pentagon said the $510,000 figure covered pay and allowances for 41,860 Alabama National Guardsmen called into federal duty, plus transportation and other expenses in connection with measures taken to protect the voting rights march in late March.

The figure did not take into account the pay and allowances for about 1,000 regular Army military policemen who also were used. The Army has taken the position that these men would be drawing such pay and allowances regardless of what duties they were performing.

Also excluded were the expenses involved in use of federal marshals and other resources of the Justice Department.

The Alabama National Guard was federalized from March 20 to March 28.

In response to inquiries, the Defense Department also listed the costs of past Defense Department involvement in civil rights crises.

In September 1957, President Dwight D. Eisenhower called up 10,500 Arkansas Air and Army Guardsmen in a clash with Gov. Orval E. Faubus over admitting Negro pupils to Central High School in Little Rock. Federal troops were used.

The operation, extending from

Cows Worry About Their Social Status

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Cows worry about their social status in the herd, says a University of California professor of animal husbandry.

"Age, weight, aggressiveness, agility and timidity are important factors that influence a cow's social rank," says Prof. Kenneth A. Wagnon.

If the self-feeder accommodates eight cows, rarely more than four will eat at a time, he says, because dominant cows keep the timid ones away. The timid ones wait around and eat later.

Such insecurity problems prevent some cattle from gaining weight, says Wagnon.

September 1957 to May 1958, cost $4,898,000.

In October 1962, the late President John F. Kennedy called out about 8,000 Mississippi Guardsmen during the riot-marked integration of the University of Mississippi. Here, too, sizable regular federal forces were used.

The Pentagon said this federal military operation, which lasted until June 1963, cost $4,364,000.

In June 1963, Kennedy ordered 17,000 Alabama Army and Air Guardsmen into federal service before Gov. George C. Wallace allowed Negroes to enter the University of Alabama.

Three months later, Alabama Guardsmen were back in federal service, this time in a federal-state dispute over public school integration.

The Army spent $3,171,000 for these operations of Alabama National Guardsmen. Other expenses, including communications, transportation and the like, are not included in this figure. The Army said it did not have cost data on these elements.

Forceful Report To The Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's forceful report to the nation on the Dominican situation got none of the tub-thumping build-up usually arranged for such events. As a result, it surprised almost everyone.

Although important presidential pronouncements normally are well trumpeted many hours — even days — in advance, the White House announced Sunday night's television-radio address barely an hour before Johnson began talking.

The White House gave the speech such a soft sell that, for a time, it seemed none of the major television networks would risk scrapping prime-time programs to carry it live. In the end only CBS did.

There was no official explanation for the lack of advance salesmanship.

Like many Johnson speeches, this one was revised almost up to the moment of delivery. Seconds before the President stepped to the podium in the White House television studio — which doubles as a movie theater — technicians were making changes in the text prepared for his television prompting device.

Perhaps last-minute haste accounted for a Johnson slip-up in midspeech. Suddenly he began repeating two paragraphs he had delivered earlier. Obviously aware of his blooper and much discomfited, he shuffled through his manuscript text, hesitated and almost stammered as he tried to find a way out of his predicament.

He finally managed to get back on the track rather gracefully.

Johnson entered the studio with his daughter, Luci, 16, and, before beginning his speech, saw that she found a seat among the newsmen on hand.

Actually, there was no shortage of seats. Because of the lack of advance notice on a Sunday night, barely a dozen reporters showed up for the event. Two Johnson television-radio statements last week had attracted dozens of newsmen.

MU Could Keep Big Eight Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri's defending champs, with five straight victories and eight of their last nine, may be in front to stay in Big Eight baseball unless Kansas can slow their drive at Columbia Friday and Saturday in the top series of the weekend.

This past weekend was the fourth of the season in league play and Missouri is the fourth leader. Each of the past three leaders were knocked off the following week. Nebraska, on top a week ago, was the latest victim, losing two of three to Iowa State at Lincoln. Iowa State won 14-5 Saturday as Al Tubbs and Dick Olson hit home runs.

Missouri, meanwhile, smashed K-State 14-8 at Manhattan to complete a three-game sweep that put the Tigers on top at 8-3. The other contenders are Iowa State 7-4, Nebraska 6-4, Kansas and Oklahoma State both 7-5. Only a game and a half separates the first four teams.

Missouri lost its first two league games at Nebraska, but since then Hi Simmons' club found its batting eye and has won eight of nine, scoring 78 runs and permitting 40.

If Missouri pitching doesn't equal that of the past three title teams at Columbia, the hitting may be enough to make it four straight pennants. Ron Cummings, Dan Rudanovich and Bob Robben all hit homers Saturday.

Other series this weekend find Oklahoma, 5-7, at Iowa State; K-State, 2-9, at Colorado, 3-8; and Nebraska at Oklahoma State. Two games are scheduled for Friday, one for Saturday in each series. State College of Iowa plays at Iowa State Tuesday and Drake at Iowa State Wednesday in the only outside games.

Home runs by Steve McGreevy and Jim Dreiling and Fred Chana's five-hitter led Kansas past OSU 5-1 at Lawrence. Oklahoma edged Colorado 6-5 in 11 innings at Norman. Adrian Mohr walking in the winning run. Oklahoma's Allen Gott struck out 19 men.
